Wesley was killed in action 8 March 1945 in the vicinity of Duisdorf, Germany. He was buried with appropriate funeral services conducted by a Protestant Chaplain. At the time of his death he was a rifleman moving with his squad as the leading element of the company in the assault of an enemy-held town. Contact with the enemy was made on the outskirts of the objective, and in the ensuing fire fight, Private First Class Self was struck by a rifle shot that caused his instant death.

Your husband was an outstanding and capable young soldier whose untimely death is felt by all who knew and loved him. His bravery, loyalty, keen sense of duty and aggressiveness were a great inspiration to those who worked and fought with him. His is a loss which will be hard to replace.

I realize that no words of mine can lessen the sorrow which you feel in your bereavement, but want you to know that all those who were privileged to know Wesley extend to you their heartfelt sympathy. It is our hope that you may be comforted by the knowledge that his valiant performance of duty not only contributed to the success of his organization, but also serves as an inspiration to those who carry on the struggle.

Very Sincerely yours,

JOHN WILLIAMSON,
Lt. Colonel, Infantry,
Commanding.
